About Eve and Savvy Style

Eve Roth Lindsay knows all the secrets to making you look and feel great.

Eve has always seen things in a creative light. Coming from an artistic family, her passion lay in fashion and her career flourished after she graduated from the famous Parsons School Of Design in New York. She spent many years working in the world's fashion capitals and finally settled in Hong Kong, working as an International Fashion Designer. Eve is also well-recognized by the media as a fashion expert and is a Glamour Guru for the South China Morning Post.

In 2001, Eve founded her image consultancy Savvy Style, Colour Me Beautiful HK to work with "real" people, sharing her knowledge and helping them to look their best whether for work or leisure. Eve feels the greatest sense of achievement and enjoyment from seeing first hand how amazed and thankful her clients are after their transformation.

When you look good ... you feel good!

Hear what Savvy Style clients say:

Christine: Everyone has been telling me how good I look and I can also see the difference it has made... You've made me realize I had it in me all the time, I just forgot where it was.

David: I am now confident about what I wear. I finally understand why some clothes never felt right, while others made me feel great! Now when I shop I can zero in on what clothes will be right for me.

Jane: I have had lots of compliments including from my husband who says that people say I am looking younger than ever and he agrees. I am settling better with my colours and have been a bit more daring as you suggested. Thank you Eve, it's a long time since I felt this good.

Mark: Without a doubt this is one of the best investments I have ever made.

Emily: I recently had a big presentation and because I knew that I looked polished and professional, I felt 100% more confident about stepping out in front of the audience. Thank you!
